Our Organization and Mission

The Access to Nutrition Initiative (ATNI) is an independent, not-for-profit organization based in the Netherlands. We publish consistent, standardized analysis and commentary on the food & beverage industry's efforts to improve consumers' access to nutritious foods and beverages.

Every country in the world is affected by malnutrition. Globally, one in three people are either undernourished, overweight, or obese. Over the last 35 years, obesity has more than doubled and has now reached epidemic proportions. Over the next ten years, undernutrition is also set to continue to increase in some countries.

ATNI's vision is a world in which:

- No one goes to bed hungry
- Everyone eats a healthy, affordable diet that has the nutrients they need to grow and develop fully
- Deaths and illnesses from diets low in essential vitamins and minerals are confined to history

Our aim is to drive change by tracking and driving the food industry's attempts to tackle obesity, diet-related chronic diseases, and undernutrition at the local and global levels. We design and deliver a range of private-sector accountability tools – using our own research, experience, and the knowledge of our growing global stakeholder network. Every action we take is intended to encourage businesses to do more to achieve good health through improved diets and nutrition.

ATNI publishes the Global Index, country Spotlight Indexes, and other tools and initiatives. Our products provide companies with tools to benchmark their performance on nutrition against others in their sector. They provide stakeholders with impartial, objective, consistent, and in-depth information on companies' contributions to improving nutrition. Our aim is to encourage companies both to increase the number of healthier products and to provide greater access to them – in addition to responsibly exercising their influence on consumers' choice and behavior.

As shareholders and bondholders of most of the companies rated on our Indexes, institutional investors have the potential to drive substantial change in these companies' commitments, practices and disclosure on nutrition. This is why ATNI works extensively with the investment community to ensure that our Indexes are designed to provide them with the in-depth information they need on companies' performance on nutrition not available from any other source. Investors can then use our Indexes and reports in their ESG research, investment analysis and engagement. Investors are a key pillar in ATNI's Theory of Change. They are included in methodology development and consultations, receive bespoke communications and have a dedicated support team at ATNI.

We pride ourselves on being innovative and collaborative – and we are increasingly working on new accountability tools and conducting further bespoke research, establishing new partnerships with investors, not-for-profits, and foundations.

Your Role and Responsibilities

ATNI currently has around 20 staff members based in Utrecht, the Netherlands. The ATNI team consists of a Research team and a Program team. The work of the ATNI Investor Support Team is tightly integrated with the Research Team, Program Team, Communications Team, and other functions within ATNI.

Together with the internal members and external consultants of the ATNI Investor Support team the Investor Support – Analyst will support the development and expansion of the ATNI Investor Support function. You will play a supporting role in: facilitating collaborative investor engagement programs based on ATNI research products; recruiting new Investor Signatories and maintaining relationships with current Investor Signatories; developing bespoke investor communications for the ATNI Investor Group; conducting research on the financial materiality of malnutrition in all its forms; disseminating ATNI data to ESG platforms and data providers; ensuring that nutrition objectives are included in key policy developments such as the EU Social Taxonomy; ensuring that investors are a strategic consideration within the multilateral nutrition community; and building ATNI's network amongst key nutrition stakeholders.

This position will require networking and communication skills, along with a diplomatic approach and analytical skills. A proven interest in, and understanding of, nutrition, health, and/or sustainable business is important.

This position will be based in Utrecht, the Netherlands. The team currently employs the hybrid work model, working both from home and at our office.

The Investor Support – Analyst will be part of a dynamic young organization and will have the ability to help shape the expansion of the organization. This is a unique opportunity to make a substantial positive impact on improving global health by helping to fundamentally shape the nutrition standards and practices of the food & beverage industry globally.

Your responsibilities include:

Program Management, Communications and Stakeholder Engagement

- Play a role in the development and implementation of new activities within the pillars of work of the ATNI Investor Support Team (Signatory recruitment and management, collaborative engagement programs, data sharing, influencing key organization and processes, leveraging the role of investors in the multi-lateral nutrition agenda and research on the financial materiality of nutrition)
- Support investor outreach activities
- Continue to develop relationships with and disseminate ATNI's research to ESG data providers
- Support the facilitation of collaborative investor engagement programs based on ATNI indices
- Play an active role in the writing and dissemination of the collaborative investor engagement impact reports
- Develop bespoke content for the dissemination of the findings of ATNI's research products to the investment community
- Keep abreast of relevant financial sector policy development to ensure that nutrition objectives are included in these (e.g., EU Social taxonomy)

Your Qualifications and Skills

To thrive in this role, you'll need the following skills:

Experience

- A minimum of 2 years of experience of working in the finance sector, understanding of ESG issues (particularly social issues related to nutrition and health), experience with corporate engagement and shareholder action
- Positive track record of achievement and of delivering results, preferably in the investment management industry, international organization, or management consultancy environment
- Demonstrated success in cultivating and sustaining relationships and networks across diverse constituencies and cultures, preferably with experience in supporting or administering multi-stakeholder consultative processes
- Knowledge of, and experience with, nutrition and the food & beverage industry would be highly desirable

Education

- Master's degree (MBA, MPA, MPH, or similar)
- Sustainable finance diploma/certificate is an asset

Competencies

- Excellent writing skills (ability to write clearly, concisely, and quickly in fluent English is essential)
- Excellent communication skills
- Hands-on, positive approach to work
- Ability to produce professional presentations under tight deadlines
- Proven ability to work effectively in a team environment
- Planning and analytical abilities
- Strong drive, determination, and motivation
- Knowledge of global capital markets including the requirements of the investment sector's roles and their ESG research

Additional Requirements

- Existing necessary permits and approvals to work in the EU

Languages

Perfect command of written and spoken English. Knowledge of UN languages is an asset.

What ATNI Offers You

- Our office is located in Utrecht, the Netherlands
- 32 or 40 working hours per week
- Work partly from home and partly from our Utrecht office
- A competitive salary and 25 days of vacation based on a full-time basis
- Travel expenses to and from our office
- Be a part of a fast-growing and impactful organization and a dynamic international team, offering inspiration and opportunities to develop yourself
- A chance to align your work with your values

Diversity and Inclusion

ATNI is an Equal Opportunity Employer that values and respects the importance of a diverse and inclusive workforce. It is the organization's policy to recruit, hire, train, and promote persons in all job titles without regard to race, color, religion, gender, age, national origin, veteran status, disability, sexual orientation, or
